

Rites Undone

Rites Undone

Rites Undone

Religion Outside the University

27/04/22

Room 1.01 Bush House South

17:00-19:00

Film Screening
And Panel

Rites Undone

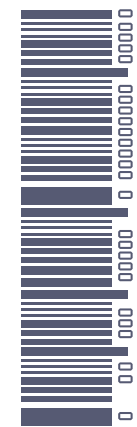

27/04/22

Room 1.01, Lecture
Theater One

17:00-19.00

Bush House South

Co-Sponsored by INFORM

Rites Undone

Rites Undone

Rites Undone

A film by
Naomi Richman
Eddie Bolger

A film by
Naomi Richman
Eddie Bolger

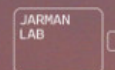

A film by
Naomi Richman
Eddie Bolger

HIDDEN
PERSUADERS

HIDDEN
PERSUADERS

HIDDEN
PERSUADERS

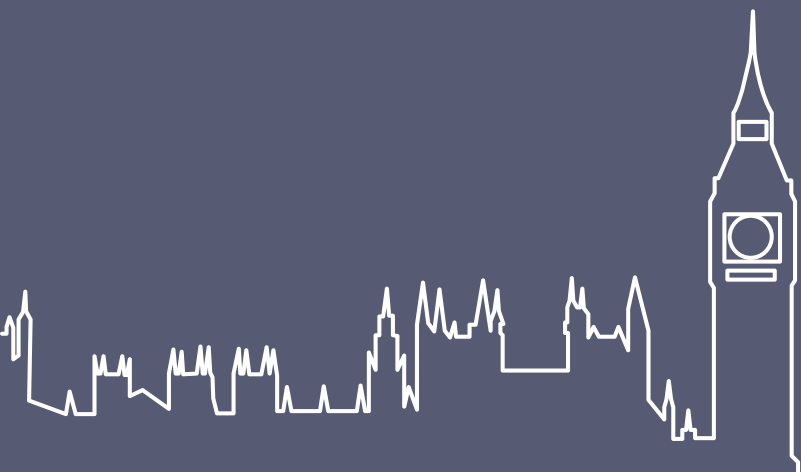

Rites Undone

Dr. Naomi Richman

Naomi is a Fellow (JRF) in Anthropology at Trinity College.

She earned her D.Phil. at the University of Oxford in 2020, which was based on ethnographic research amongst Nigerian Pentecostal Christians. Naomi's research argues for the decisive role that theology plays in shaping the lives of religious persons, and especially in shaping how they experience their physical bodies, and their sexualities.

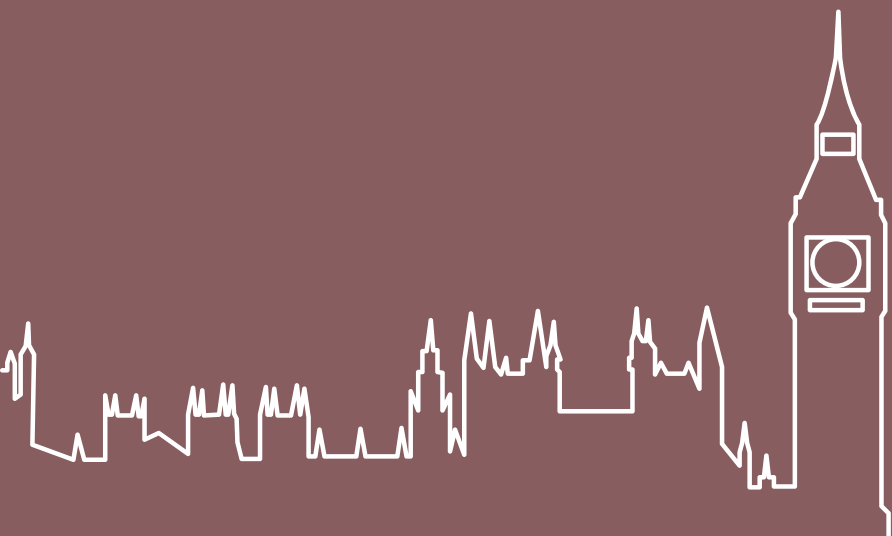

Rites Undone

Dr. Suzanne Newcombe

Suzanne Newcombe is the Honorary Director of Inform an independent charitable organisation which provides information about minority religions and sects which is as accurate, up-to-date and as evidence-based as possible. Inform's impact takes several forms including helping individuals and organisations with due diligence, facilitating networking around new and minority religions, collaborating with other organisations on projects and organising public events

Rites Undone

Opeyemi Ebulu-Eyuruntari (Yemi)

Ms Opeyemi Ebulu-Eyuruntari is a leading professional in the forefront of safeguarding and child protection in Lagos State and Nigeria, actively advocating stakeholders to adopt the 'Safeguarding Children Agenda.

She contributes to the wider goals of improving the wellbeing of all children, with particular focus on 'Safeguarding Children' and very passionate about Saffron's Safeguarding the Nigerian Child Initiative (SNCi), registered with the United Nations (UN) partnership towards achieving the Global 'Sustainable Developmental Goals' for Nigeria, which is also recently confirmed as a member of the 'Global Partnership on Ending Child Violence'.

